The Center for Educational Outreach

INTRODUCTION ABOUT OUR BRAND

As a community of outreach professionals we are continually producing materials connected with our activities, programs, and website. However, without unifying visual guidelines the materials can appear disconnected and can confuse audiences. CEO wants to ensure our brand is recognizable and clear.

This style guide has been prepared by the Center for Educational Outreach (CEO) Marketing and Communications team. It provides guidelines for using the key graphic elements of the CEO visual identity: the CEO logos, typefaces, and colors. It also includes guidelines for using the CEO Inform, Engage, Inspire logo, typeface, graphic elements, and colors.

While it focuses primarily on print, the following materials are a guide to ensure all CEO related items communicate who we are to our audiences—internal and external and to ensure consistent usage of key graphic elements. Guidance is also provided for the use of the CEO name in text.

In addition, these materials provide a foundation for our visual identity—along with a strong connection to the University of Michigan—without constraining the range of graphic possibilities.

 MCAC follows the tradition of the AmeriCorps and Teach for America programs. MCAC will recruit and train a diverse group of recent University of Michigan college graduates to work full-time as college advisers in under-served high schools throughout Michigan for one or two years following graduation. IEI Graphic Elements

CEO Graphics

The University of Michigan periodically provides the campus design community with free stock photos from around campus. CEO has copies of all of these photos.

EXAMPLES OF U-M STOCK PHOTOS

CEO has an extensive library of images from our various events and programs that can be used in design work. It is recommended to use CEO images in work as we are promoting our programs and what better way to do that than with images from them! Use U-M stock photos to supplement CEO photos if needed. A link to a CEO photo bank is provided on page 34.

EXAMPLES OF CEO PHOTOS

Since CEO works with young people we have a set of graphics as part of the IEI brand that can be used to enhance designs if desired. These graphics are best used as accent pieces in addition to photographs, infographics, etc. These graphic elements can be altered by cropping, resizing, or rotating. Please do not stretch these elements. You can use shades of the official IEI colors if the elements are not showing up on the design well (see example of use). A link to a folder with the graphics is provided on page 34.

CEO often has need for custom graphics for a special program or event. The Marketing & Communications team has several ways of creating these graphics but the most common are original graphics (created by a CEO member) or a modified graphic from a royalty free site like Vecteezy.com.

Infographics are another type of graphic often created and distributed by CEO. For infographics and accents to some materials, CEO currently uses hexagons or triangle shapes.
