

April 15 Headlines

Local News

AP News: International students file legal challenges over widespread US visa revocations

Several international students who have had their visas revoked in recent weeks have filed lawsuits against the Trump administration, arguing the government denied them due process when it suddenly took away their permission to be in the U.S.

The Michigan Daily: UM-Flint students respond to campus shift from DEI to Wolverine HOPE

On March 27, the University of Michigan announced cuts to programs and offices supporting diversity, equity and inclusion, closing the Office of DEI and the Office for Health, Equity and Inclusion and ending the DEI 2.0 Strategic plan.

WZZMABC 13: Ferris State University to offer 2 days of free healthcare services

Ferris State University is partnering with Remote Area Medical (RAM) to provide free healthcare services for two days beginning next month. The clinic is open to anyone and will be first-come, first-serve while the clinic is offering services.

National News

Austin American-Statesman: UT students want more communication, action after West Campus assault suspect re-released

Students at the University of Texas are concerned about an apparent spike in crime in West Campus after a man accused of being a "violent offender" who was arrested three times in three days last week was again released from jail, the university said in a statement.

The Economic Times: Can university police act as ICE agents? What international students need to know

University police officers are licensed law enforcement officials, but their jurisdiction is limited to campus property and enforcing state or local laws. They do not have federal immigration enforcement powers. This means they cannot detain or deport someone based on immigration status alone, nor can they conduct immigration raids.

WSVN Fox 7: FIU students react to university joining forces with immigration officials to detain undocumented students

University police officers are licensed law enforcement officials, but their jurisdiction is limited to campus property and enforcing state or local laws. They do not have federal immigration enforcement powers. This means they cannot detain or deport someone based on immigration status alone, nor can they conduct immigration raids.

Want to help curate DPSS Open Source Headlines?
Let us know, email dpss-strat-comm@umich.edu